£5.5m Zulu nightclub to open in Camden

A HUGE Zulu-themed nightclub and restaurant costing £5.5 million is to open in Camden.

Shaka Zulu is to launch in May, decorated with £2 million of murals and wooden panels depicting Zulu culture from the 19th century, when King Shaka was in power. A 45-foot bronze statue of the king will be placed at the entrance to the 850-seat venue beneath Gilgamesh restaurant at Camden Stables Market. A spokeswoman for the club said: "We have been liaising on cultural and historical matters with [Zulu] King Goodwill Zwelithini in South Africa and have also consulted the British Museum."

Owner Roger Payne, who also owns The Cuban bar and restaurant in Camden, added: "It will be a show bar with a fine dining restaurant."
